OUR COVER

Seven-year-old prodigy of the saddle, Denyse Harrison, Makirikiri, is our cute little cover-girl for this issue. Denyse has won over 100 colourful ribbons in her three - and - a - half years of competing in horse events with her ponies at shows and gymkhanas.

BACK COVER.

This line up of sleek racing motor boats at the Wanganui Boat Club slip-way in the Aquatic Centre make a colourful subject for our camera. The boats were competing here recently in bridge-to-bridge races.

Inter College Athletics

Technical College won the 1961 Wanganui inter-secondary schoolboy athletic championships, held at the High School grounds recently, after staving off a strong Collegiate School challenge in the relay events. The final points results were: Technical...222, Collegiate...208, High...60, St. Augustine's...50. Nine records were bettered or equalled, but owing to windy conditions only two new records were recognised.

Aramoho School is back in the news again after winning the Primary Schools' Challenge Shields in both the boys' and girls' sections of the Royal Life Saving Society's (Wanganui Branch) inter-school competitions. This is the first time that the girls have ever won this shield, and the second time for the boys of the Aramoho School.

Boys: Philip Carlyon, John Lange, Wayne Lawson, and Anthony Ives.
Girls: Lois Munting, Heather Dellow, Maurceen Lowe, and Irene Bartlett.

Left: Changing Sex: This Mutant hen pheasant, aged six years, is in the process of changing sex to a cock bird. Owned by Mr Graham Hughes, a Maxwell breeder, this bird laid for three years. Last year it went off the lay and started to develop cock-bird plumage and characteristics. This bird will be on display with other gaily-coloured varieties of pheasant at the Pigeon and Poultry Fanciers' show in the Memorial Hall on June 9 and 10.

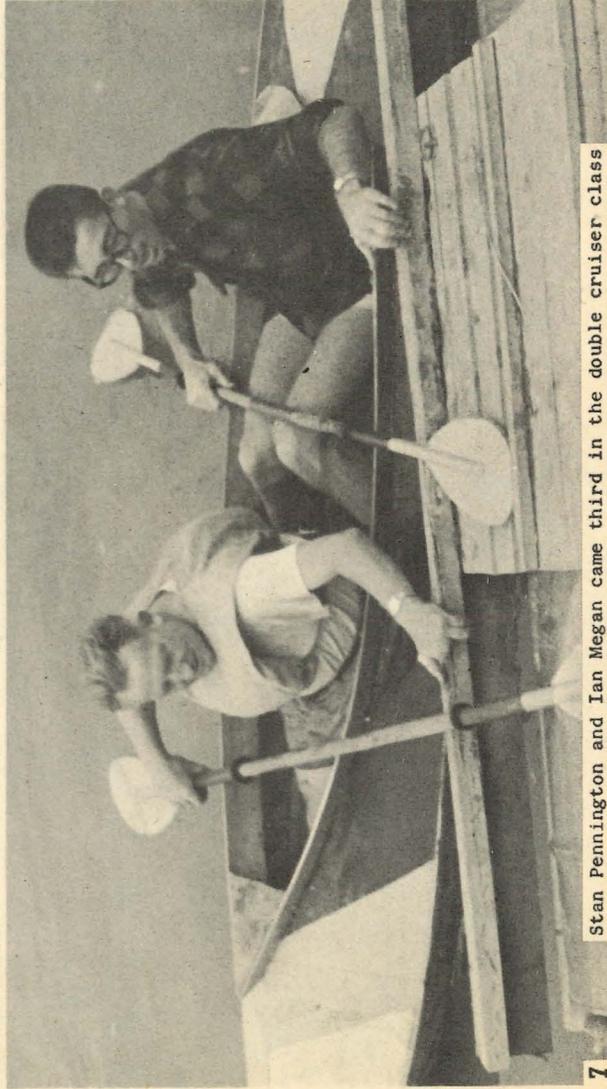

Bill Signal, Wanganui, was the first man in single cruiser class. He raced 20 miles from Parikono.

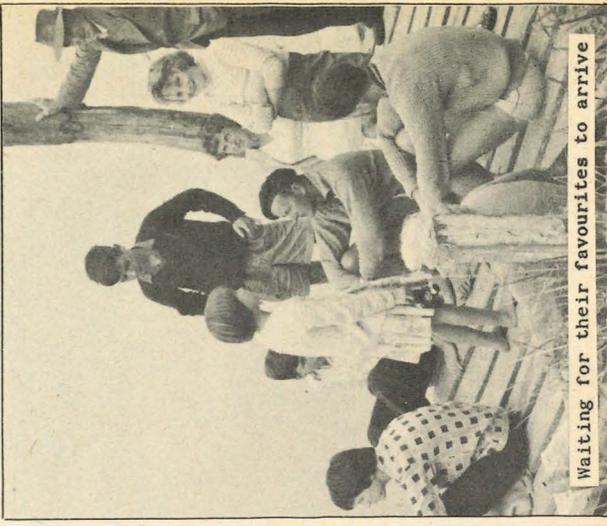

Winston Horne, Tom Dooney, and Auckland Kathy Payne chat about the race over a welcome hot brew.

Canoe Race

New Zealand canoe champion Tom Dooney, Auckland, smashed his own record for the 32-mile Atene to Wanganui race by 20 minutes with a time of 3 hrs 48 mins 51 secs. Dooney, racing for the Palmerston North Club, applied a cracking pace right from the start and cleared well away from the rest of the field.

Stan Pennington and Ian Megan came third in the double cruiser class

Road Cycling Starts

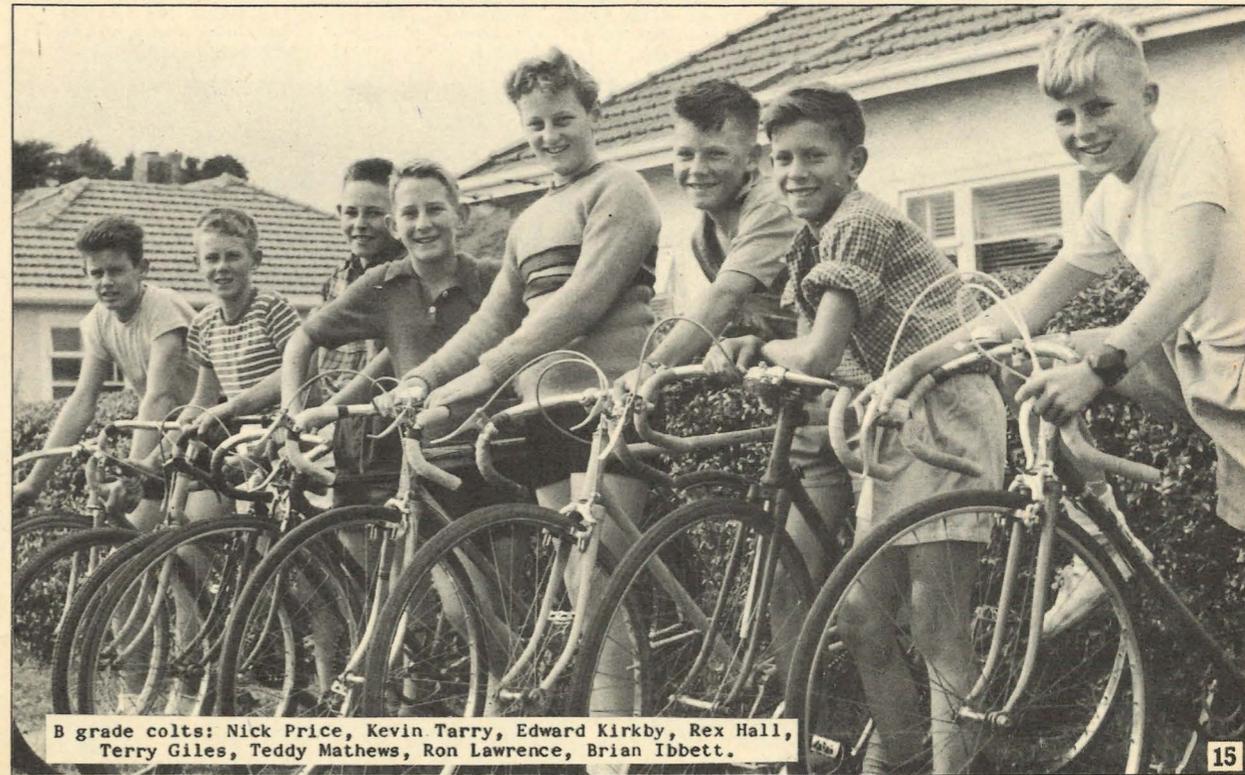

Mr Cliff Chainey, patron, recently opened the 1961 season for the Wanganui Amateur Road Cycling Club, which operates from their headquarters on the riverbank opposite Yewen's service station on the Main South Road. Fairly strong head winds made things a little tough for the boys on this, their first competitive ride of the year.

Big Go-Kart Meet

Drivers jockey for positions in a rolling start

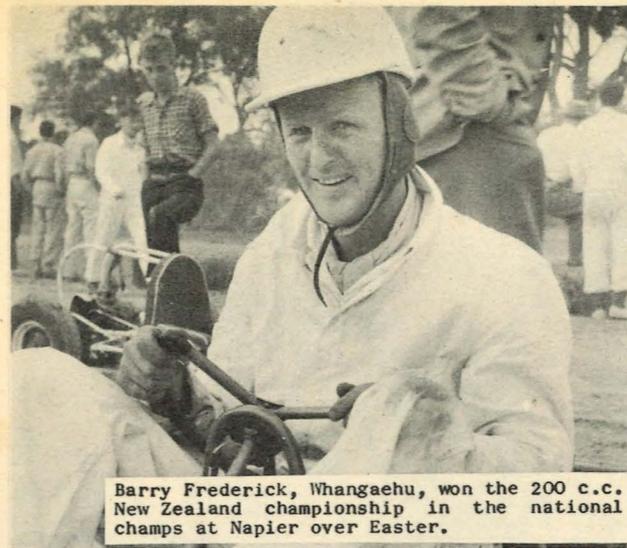

The Wanganui Go Kart Club had a very successful meeting recently at their Anzac Parade track when they were visited by enthusiasts from neighbouring clubs. A good day of racing was enjoyed by competitors and spectators alike, and a social and dance at Whangaehu wound up an enjoyable day. The club has a good site for their racing in what will be Wanganui's counterpart to Napier's Marine Parade within the next few years. Perhaps a sealed and banked track would add to the drawing of crowds.

Kerash!...this chap ran out of track

"Excuse me. Is this the right way to the finishing line old chap?"

Barry Frederick, Whangaehu, won the 200 c.c. New Zealand championship in the national champs at Napier over Easter.

Alan Best, Wanganui, came fourth in the N.Z. champs at Napier and won the Golden Helmet at a Hawera meet.

Geoff Chatterton, Hawera, ran into kart driven by Clive Berry, New Plymouth, which had spun on a corner. Chatterton's waggon capsized....

Bob Smith, Mana, collapsed in a heaped crump..er.. humped creep..er..crumpled heap after pushing his concked kart to victory.

Starting young...Rex Frederick, aged 22 months, has the nonchalant air of an old hand as he tries the wheel of one of the racers.

....and his leg was trapped underneath. Berry swiftly helped free Chatterton.

Above. MANY HANDS...LIGHT WORK. Big gangs of volunteers have been busy on recent Saturdays with the erection of a new manse for the Church of Christ. So far over 40 men have given their time and work to get the Harrison Street dwelling built for the Rev. R.G.Russ. Most of the workers belong to the Church of Christ congregation, and they hope to save about £1500 by doing the work themselves. The workers represent nearly a full range of tradesmen.

Pony Club Gymkhana

The town branch of the Wanganui Pony Club recently wound up their season with a gymkhana at their Tayforth grounds. Competitions and games were the order of the day, followed by presentations of trophies. One hundred and twenty young folk belong to the Wanganui pony club, which is split into six branches, Town, Brunswick, Waitahinga, Mangamahu, Makirikiri, and Whangaehu. This gives an idea of the popularity of this fine healthy sport.

Most of the children have their own ponies. But if children don't have ponies, they can still join the club. Riders in this photo are listening to instructions from one of their tutors.

Spectacular Smash

Seven people were injured in a collision between two cars at the intersection of Ingestre and Campbell Streets recently. Both cars finished up after the accident upside down and were extensively damaged. Four of the injured were admitted to the Wanganui General Hospital and the others were treated and discharged. Those admitted to hospital were: Mrs Dorothy Dawn Clark, Raine Street, broken pelvis and lacerations; Mr William Clark, serious head injuries; Mr Earl Francis Halligan, Kings Avenue, concussion; Miss Colleen Kilmartin, Palmerston North, scalp lacerations.

Easter Bowls

Wanganui was the mecca for 448 bowlers over Easter when 112 teams competed in the Wanganui Bowling Centre's Easter fours tournament. Qualifying rounds were played on greens at Wanganui East, St. John's, Aramoho, Castlecliff, and Wanganui, (all in good order) and the finals were fought out on the lovely greens of St. John's. There were several surprises including the third round defeat of last year's winners, Webby's Avon four, and the post section knockout of the national champion fours skipped by ex-Wanganui-ite Reg Eves, now bowling for West End, New Plymouth. The final was won by Tom Ditchfield's Wanganui East four from Alex Dempsey's team.

World Premiere

The world premiere of a film was recently screened in Wanganui. A Haywood film production, "Song of the Wanganui," was screened at Wanganui's Regent Theatre before a capacity house which included special guests of civic importance. Filmed in beautiful colour, the film promises valuable publicity all over the world for the scenic grandeur of the Wanganui River. The background music for the film was sung by the Putiki choir.

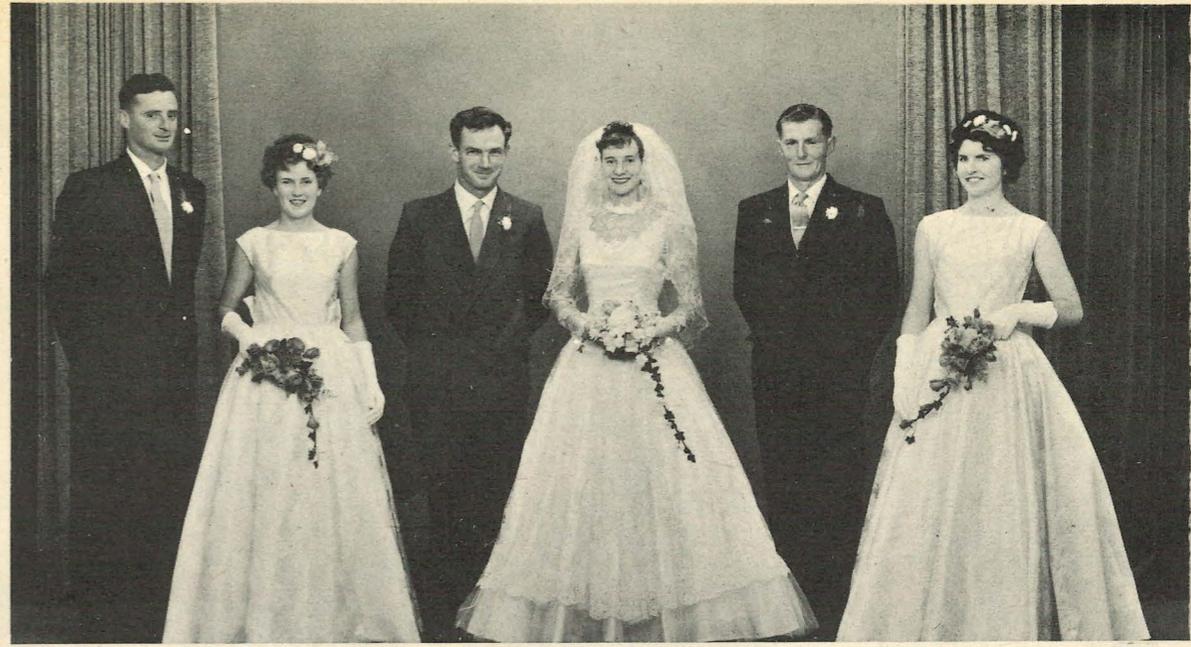

The film was well patronised by proud Wanganui-ites.

Swimming Trophies Presented

The annual social and prize-giving ceremony of the Durie Hill Swimming Club was recently held in the Baden Powell Hall. The evening was well attended and a ton of fun was had by all. Star item of the evening was a session of miming by the "Plunk Hits", comprising members of the Durie Hill Plunket Mothers' Club.

Dazzling Indoor Basketball

A number of Wanganui indoor basketball fans were well pleased that they made the effort to go to Hawera to see the South Australian District tourists in action against a Wanganui-Hawera combined team. The tourists were several classes above the combined team and disposed of them to the tune of 75-18. However it was not the result of the game that mattered to the spectators. The real thrill was in the dazzling display of fitness, tactics, and accuracy displayed by the visitors. In supporting games Wanganui's womens reps were defeated by Hawera 27-21, and the Waiouru men's reps scraped in by one point to beat Stratford.

Easter Golf

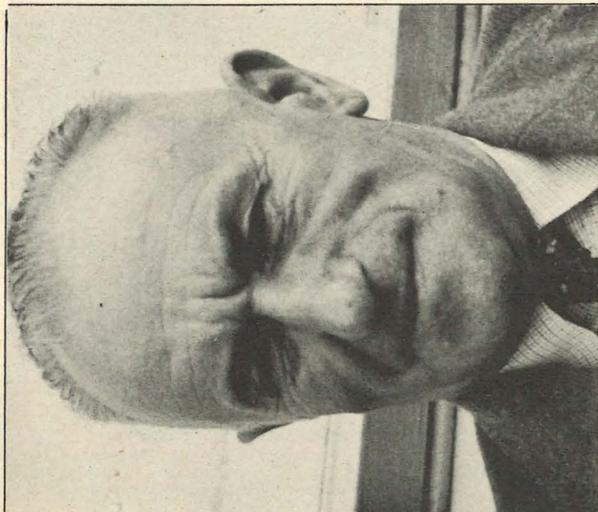

The Castlecliff Golf Club's annual Easter tournament was unanimously regarded as the very best yet by club officials. Entries were a record 112, many of which came from parts in the South Island to Auckland and Gisborne. Peter Carver beat fellow Wanganui-ite Terry Casey for the senior championship, and the standard of the play was generally very good.

Wanganui boys seem to be the only ones jumping in this line-out in their game against Ngakawau.

Wanganui No 8, Colin Eades, boots the ball into touch under pressure from a Ngakawau player. Eades had a good game and could have bigger honours ahead.

Oriental winger C. Bridges scored a nice try almost on full time. However, in this and the photo on the right he is pictured being taken on two earlier occasions by his Kaierau opposite.

Leon Whyte gets a good grip on the ball as fellow Kaierau player, J. Souness, urges the half-back to get the ball on its way.

When Kaierau's Byers gets going it takes a lot to pull him down. He is pictured here breaking through a wall of Oriental forwards.

Girls College Gala

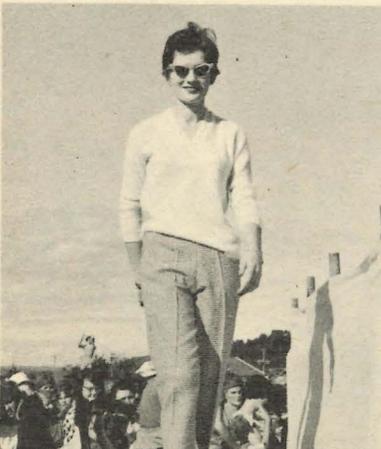

School gala days seem to be just the thing for scooping in the cash. The recent effort of the Wanganui Girls' College Parent-Teacher Association grossed £1087 and net profits are expected to be about £850....£250 more than the set target. This means that the school will be able to have a second filtration unit installed in the school baths without the aid of volunteer labour. Between 2000 and 3000 people attended.

Mr Claude Waite gave an expert shearing demonstration.

Helen Galpin was one of the mannequins who modelled the woollen garments.

Barbara Verry was another model.

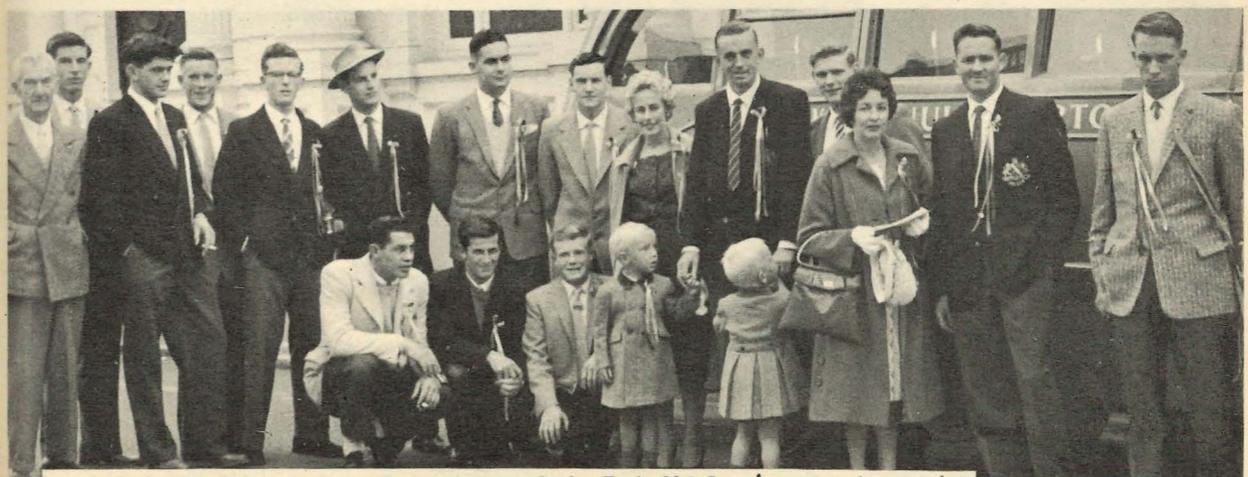

Iris Burton was one of the Wool Board visitors who starred in the "Fleece to Fashion".

Sports Roundup

Below. N.Z. CHAMPS. This Wanganui Judo Club team won the New Zealand open Kyu grade title at the national championships in Wellington recently. From left: Don McKay, Ray Walton, Des Smith, Graham Armstrong (vice-captain), and Fred Harding (captain). The event they won was for teams of five men with grading up to 1st Kyu (brown belt). They fought Wellington in the final.

SOUTH BOUND. This photograph was taken of the Tech Old Boys' soccer team prior to their departure by air for their southern playing tour at Easter.

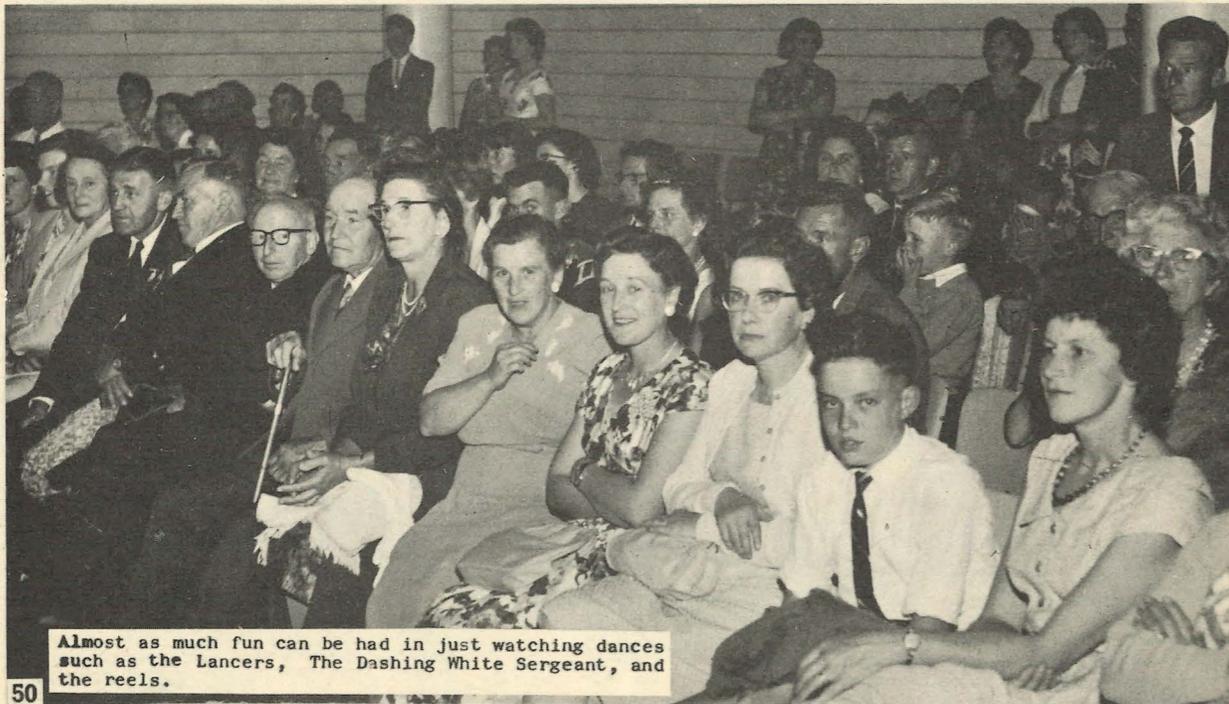

Mr Andrew McSkimming, left, was farewelled by the president of the Wanganui Caledonian Society, Mr Bill Laird.

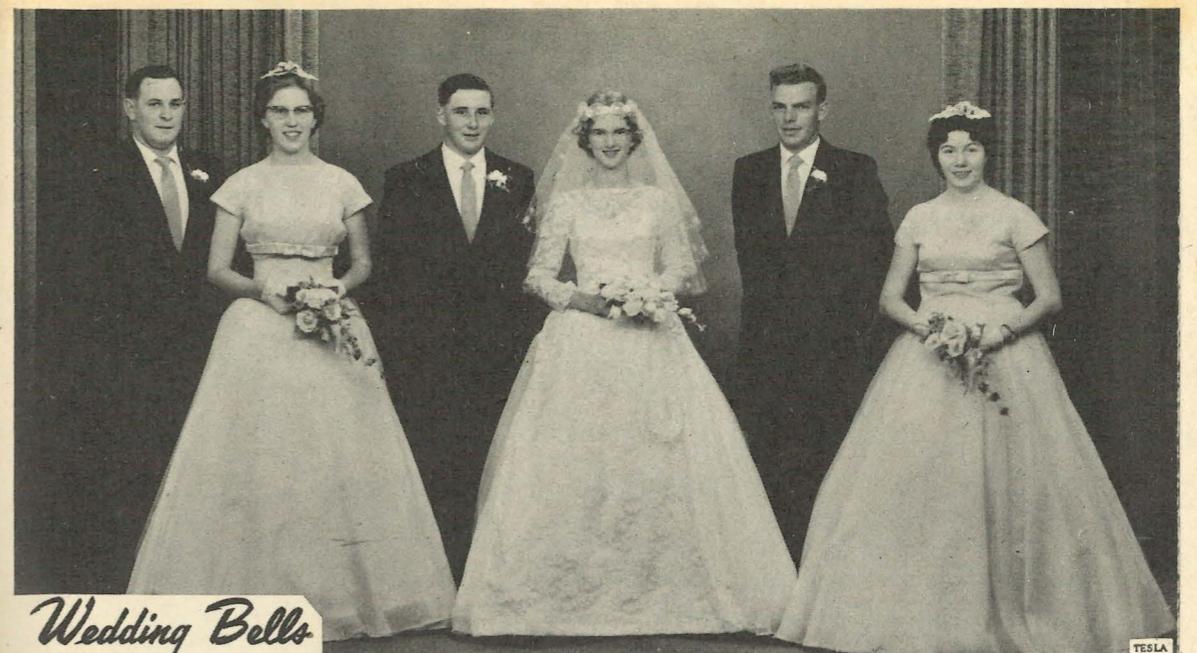

The dancing presented a very colourful sight with the swirling tartan kilts and the gay frocks of the ladies.

600 At Ingleside

There was an attendance of 600 merry-makers at the Wanganui Caledonian Society's first Ingleside of the 1961 season, held in the War Memorial Hall. Guests of the society were delegates to the meeting of the Wellington Centre of the New Zealand Dancing and Piping Association, held in the city on the same day, and seven Highland Pipe bands...Marton, Feilding, Waimarino, Foxton, Stratford, and the Wanganui senior and junior bands. Mr Andrew McSkimming, who leaves Wanganui for a visit to Scotland, was farewelled at the evening.

Almost as much fun can be had in just watching dances such as the Lancers, The Dashing White Sergeant, and the reels.

Successful Marchers

With the recent conclusion of the 1960-61 marching season we publish these photographs of four local teams which competed with considerable success. The Marion Broadway Bandoliers senior team competed at 14 contests and accumulated the record of 51 firsts, 14 seconds, one third. The prize trophy of their collection of 28 cups and six shields is the Rotorua Gold Cup, valued at £50. The three Pioneer (Wanganui) Marching teams have this season competed in Marston, Midhurst, New Plymouth, Hawera, Palmerston North, Napier and Waipawa. The Pioneer Gordonettes, in their first season, had three firsts, six seconds, and ten third placings. The Pioneer Gordonaires had four wins, and three second placings. The Pioneer Gordons had a second placing.

Peter Wallace Farewelled

Mr Peter Wallace, a railwayman with 40 years service to his credit, was recently farewelled by his workmates at the Eastown Railway workshops. Pictured above during the presentation ceremony are, from left: Mr Eric Marshall, fitting shop foreman, Mr E.A.Pearce, works manager, Mr Wallace, retiring sub-foreman fitter, Mr J.R.Ritchie, chairman of the Eastown workshops' social committee, Mr Jim Simpson, car shop foreman. Pictured below are a few of the men who attended the farewell and presentation ceremony.

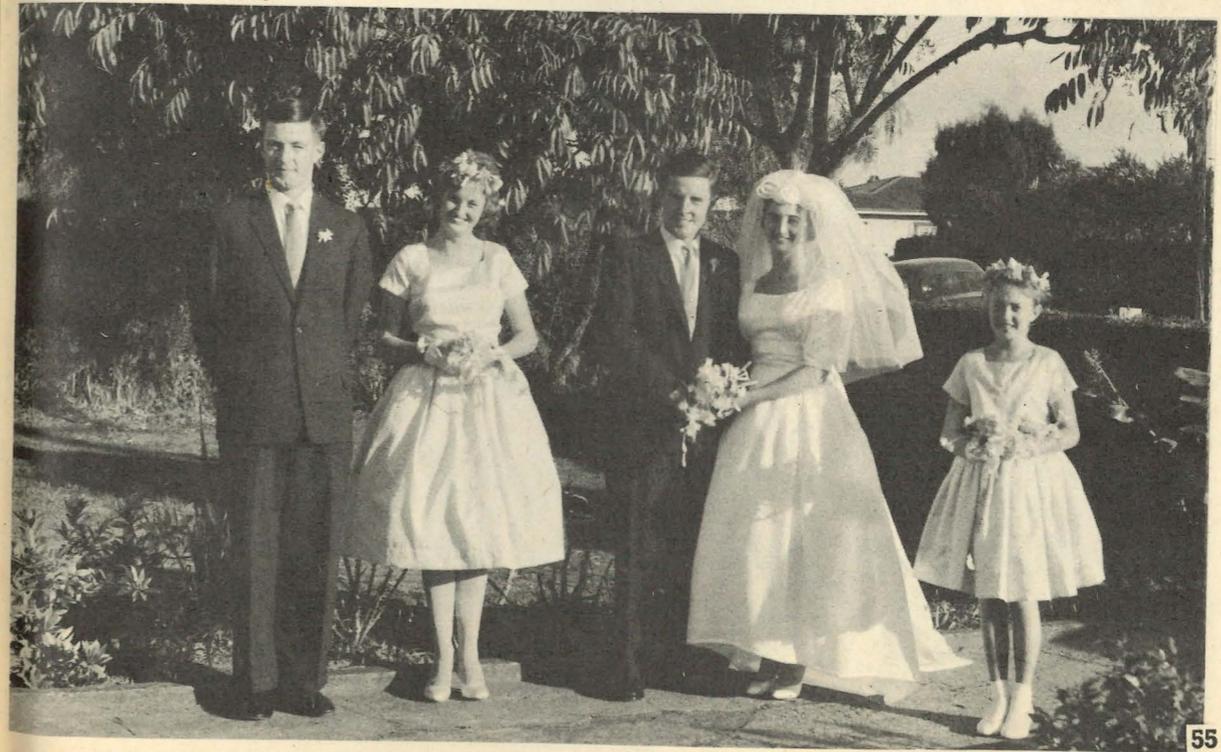

Big Mob: An unusual sight in Wanganui is this. Three thousand five hundred sheep were driven from Morikau Station and Mr J.Wickham's property through Upokongaro, down Anzac Parade in the city, over the Town Bridge, along Taupo Quay to the Imlay works. To avoid traffic troubles, the sheep were driven over the Town Bridge early on a weekend morning.

P.O.W. Smoko

A year of outstanding success was reviewed by the retiring president, Mr Russell Lindsay, at the recent annual meeting of the Wanganui branch of the New Zealand Ex-Prisoners-of-War Association. For the second year in succession the branch received a financial boost through the sale of the association's Christmas cards. This amounted to £800 for 1960. Progress for the preparation of the national reunion to be held here in June, 1962, was outlined to members. Mr Gordon Cathro was the newly-elected president. These photographs were taken during the smoko.

Boxing - Davis Wins

Bobby Davis, Auckland, won his first fight as a professional in the Wanganui War Memorial Hall when he met the clever Gisborne welterweight, Jimmy Williams. Fought as a catchweight contest, Davis had a few pounds extra weight than the Gisborne boy. In the early rounds of the ten-round fight Williams' speed was beating Davis. But the stocky Aucklander kept Williams on the retreat and in the last few rounds he piled the points advantage on over the flagging Gisbornite. This would be one of the best professional fights staged in Wanganui for some time, and proposed return bout here would certainly put Wanganui right back on the map in the boxing world. This was Davis's first and Williams's second professional encounter.

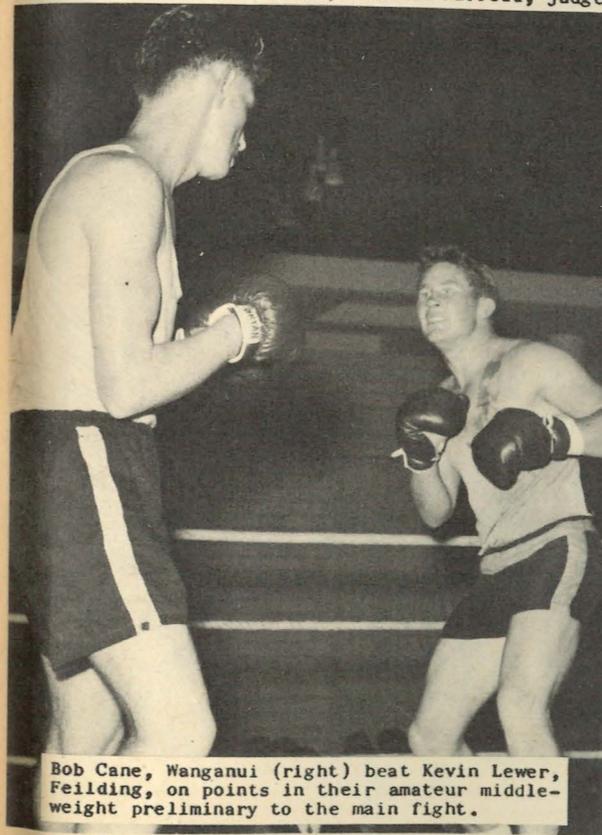

In this shot Williams looks a little apprehensive as Davis blocks a right and has ideas about swinging his left.

... "Boy that was close" ... a shot taken during the amateur preliminary between Peter Saunders, Wanganui, and Ian Wilson, Hawera

Bob Cane, Wanganui (right) beat Kevin Lewer, Feilding, on points in their amateur middle-weight preliminary to the main fight.

R.Pearce, Patea, has Frank Beamsley, Wanganui, ducking in this bout. Pearce won on points.

Aero Club Cabaret

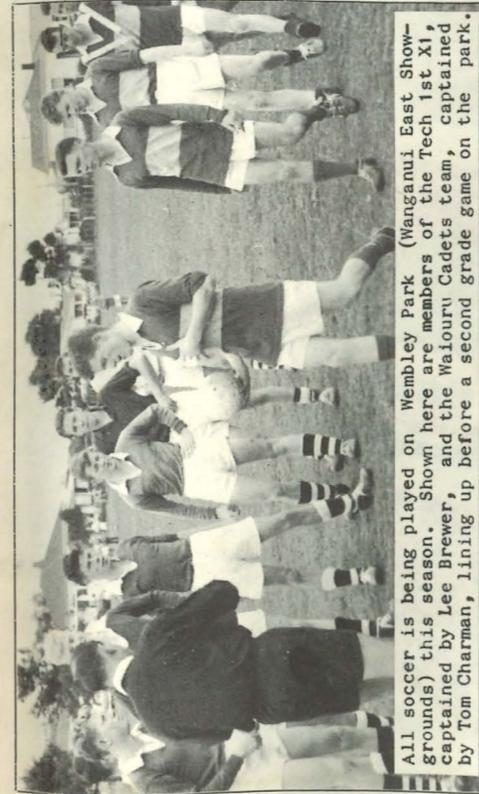

The new hangar at the Wanganui Aero Club presented a gay scene recently when the Aero Club staged a very successful cabaret evening. A couple of hundred guests attended the function and enjoyed it.

Smiling nicely for the camera here are Evelyn Smith, Danny Daniels, Carol Green, Henk Bothof, Rosina Chesswas, Ron Ron Chesswas, and Joy Gandell.

Winter Sports Start

There's no getting away from it....the summer has left us and the wintry bite in the air is bringing the winter-sports folk out of hibernation. All winter games are now in full swing with their competitions.

Hundreds of schoolboys weighed in at Spriggens Park recently for the new season of rugby. Taking details is Mr P. Church, and on the left checking weights are Brother Claudius and Mr D. Dallison.

Opening day of the basketball season attracted a big crowd of players to Laird Park. Dozens of teams will be competing, and it looks as if the competition will be pretty keen this year.
