OUR COVER

BACK COVER

Once again the summery weather has brought the joy of bowls to hundreds of Wanganui fans. This picture was taken last season at the picturesque Wanganui East greens.

READERS PIX

Right: Lynette and Snow Bertie, Wanganui country and Western singers of radio and stage, are pictured presenting their final item and receiving their prizes at the finals of a recent Feilding Jaycee Talent Quest. Lynette and Snow will go further in the entertainment field.

Below: Wanganui's Ross Sanson receives a prize after earning the highest marks in his group at Tamaki Naval School this year. Ross hopes to go to England soon to see his brother, Nigel Sanson.

These two burly "coppers", Tenga Takarangi and Bruce Gibbs, picked up "offenders" in the grey maria.

Mayor Millward arrived at court on the back of the grey maria, kindly loaned by the Wanganui Auto Wreckers Ltd.

Mock Court Raises £742

The Wanganui Lions Club's mock court held recently in aid of the "Little Sue" appeal for charity raised £742 by payments of fines and donations. Considerable public interest was shown in the six-hour "sitting" at the Memorial Hall forecourt. Fines ranging from £1 to £30 were meted out to most of Wanganui's prominent citizens. Some businessmen were arrested and transported by "grey maria" to the court.

Judge Joe Allen consults his notes as persecuting counsel Keith Thomas reads the riot act on Maurice Bidlake. At left is counsel Maurie Harris and hiding behind the cash register is clerk-of-the-court McLeod. Mr Bidlake parted with the highest fine of £30.

"My Fair Lady" in Benefit Concert

The Wanganui Opera House was packed to capacity on a recent Sunday night when most of the cast from J.C. Williamson's "My Fair Lady", currently playing in Wellington, put on a benefit variety concert to aid Birthright. Acts ranged from Charleston dancing to ballet, from humorous sketches to operetta. Wanganui is grateful to the players giving up the one free day in their working week to stage the very enjoyable show here. The visit was organized by the Wanganui Rotary Club. These photographs were taken both at rehearsal and at the concert.

Joe, the stage-door keeper...William Jeffries

We would like to mention here that the orchestra, apart from MFL's conductor Noel Smith and pianists Gwendo Paul and Keith Kinsella, was made up of Wanganui's top instrumentalists, Don Ball, Rauna Tairaoa, Pete Larkin, Hec Waitai, Paul Edmonds. Ken Bennett, Alec Hussey, Tea Bennett, Robin Ensoil, Tony Ball, Harry Mason, Ralph Walker, Joss Waitai, Graeme Chambers and John O'Brien.

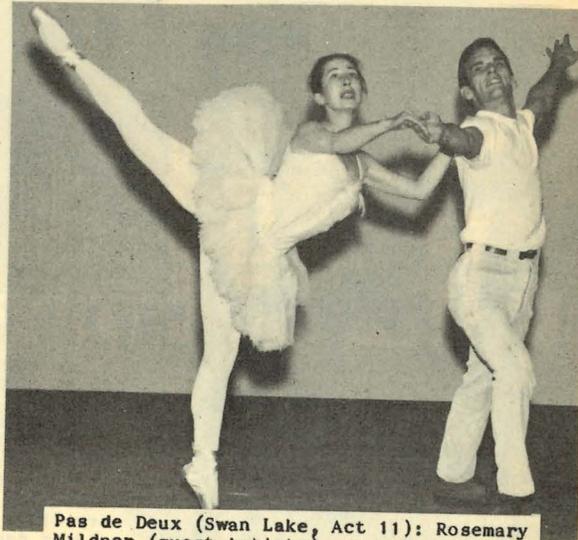

Rehearsing the Peter Gunn routine...Deanne Alderton, Jillian Hough, Joanna Karas and Lyndsay Porter.

Above: ANOTHER SPAN LOWERED: This striking time-exposure photograph by Wybon photographers was taken from Anzac Parade as workmen toiled through the night to lower the final over-water span of the Aramoho railway bridge.

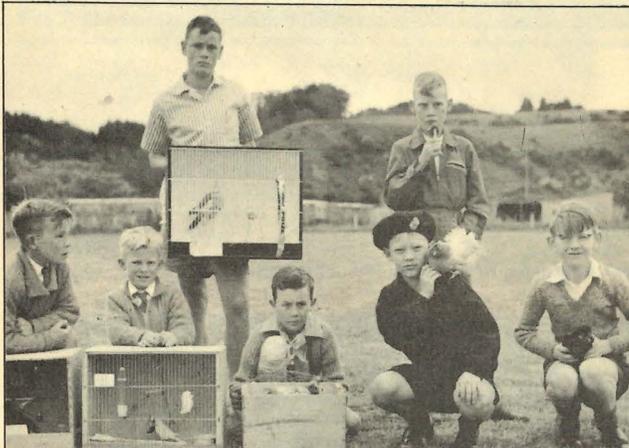

Below: TWO HURT: The two occupants of this late model Holden were admitted to hospital after it had slipped into loose metal and rolled on the Wanganui-Wellington highway near Putiki recently. The car hit a power pole before overturning. The occupants were Thomas Francis Walsh and his wife, Maureen Pearl Walsh. Mr Walsh received head lacerations and Mrs Walsh had her right leg and foot lacerated.

Young and old got a kick out of their fireworks

November the Fifth

November 5th brought once again the traditional fireworks, bon fires and effigies of the celebrated Guy Fawkes. The city was studded with the glows of fires, some big--some small, and sky-rockets traced patterns across the night sky. One of the major city blazes was once again the one at Castlecliff where these pictures were taken.

Honorary fire-lighters, Judith and Janet Andrews and Ross and Neil Wood, 2nd and 3rd in the guy competition, were given the honour of lighting the Castlecliff bonfire.

AMERICAN VISITORS: Ten of a party of fifteen American women tourists were treated to lunch by fellow Bakersville, Californian Eleanor Rudnick at Fosters Hotel recently. Miss Rudnick (in the white jersey) and proprietress, Mrs Carey (third from right) are pictured with the visitors in the hotel lounge.

A BOO BOO: In last issue we had a pix taken at the Bank of NSW dinner. In that photograph we had Dennis Smith married off. Any of his friends who may have been hurt that they were not invited to the wedding may be reassured that Dennis is not yet wedded. Sorry Dennis but you looked the married type. Apologies to your fiancée too.

Carlton School Gala

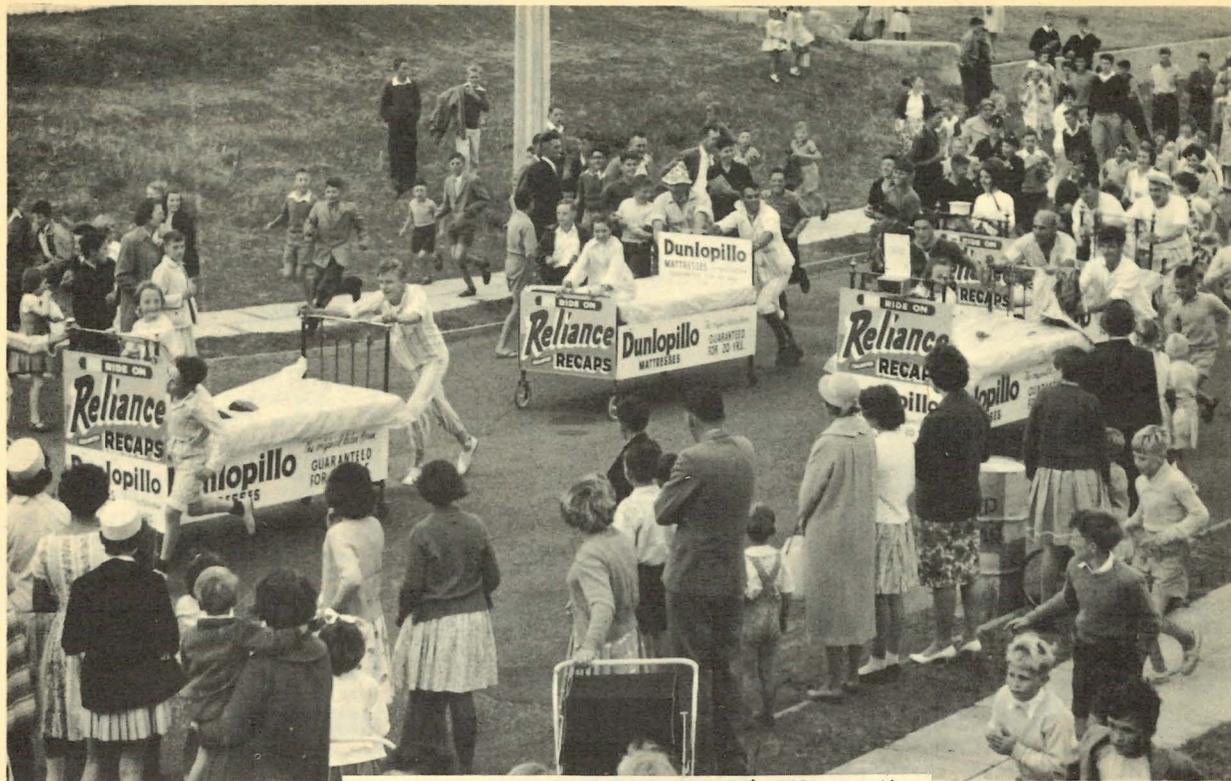

On-the-ball organisers of the recent Carlton School gala (and the previous galas) were overjoyed when they realised that their latest efforts had boosted the school building fund well over the required £2,500. The recent gala raised £600 gross. Part of their secret of success was their novel publicity stunts. Last year it was pole sitting...this year bed-pushing (the first in Wanganui). Highlights of the gala were the beauty contest, needle-in-the-haystack, and performances by various city organisations.

Big Motor-Cycle Meet

Beautifully fine weather prevailed in Wanganui over Labour weekend. One of the principal sports functions over the holiday weekend was the three day motor-cycle competitions organised by the Wanganui Motor-cycle Club. The first day's event was grass-track racing at Rapanui. The feature race here, the New Zealand miniature T.T. championship, was won with brilliant riding by Taranaki rider, Johnny Furze, on a JAP motor-cycle. Wanganui's Bob Coleman was second and C. Shultz, Eketahuna, was third. The Australian rider, Tim Gibbes, withdrew from the race.

The second day of the meeting brought the scramble on Mr J.M. Hartwell's Mosstown property. From the spectators' (and news photographers), point of view this track was not the best. The sand slowed speeds down and consequently the events were unspectacular (unusual for a scramble).

The meeting finished up with a final day of dirt-track racing on Mr Sam Taggart's Springvale property. 56 riders took part in 31 races. John Furze established himself as the top rider after winning nine out of the ten events in which he was a starter.

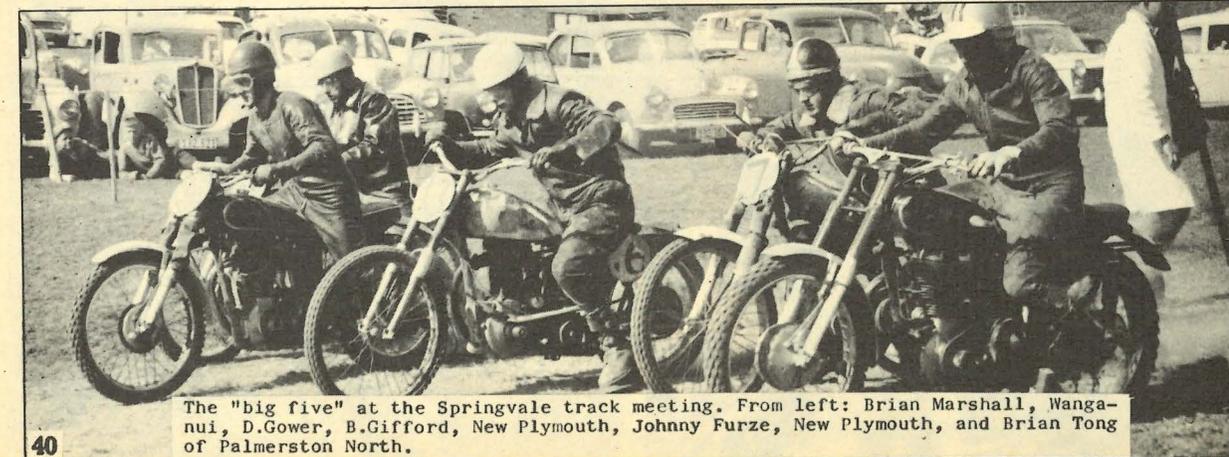

Thousands of people followed all three motor-cycle events. Pictured here are some of those who suffered the blistering sun and the blown sand to watch the scramble at Mosstown.

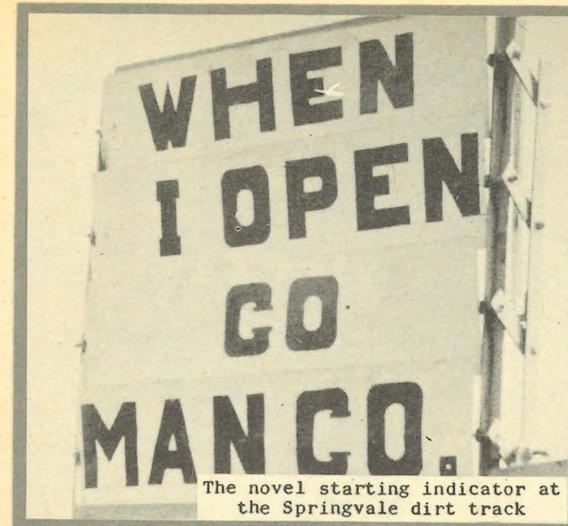

Spills at the scramble were few. Occasionally a rider would fall off his bike in the loose sand.

Vince Keats, Wanganui, found the track to his liking. He was prominent in many races.

Wanganui's softball season is once again into full swing. The first day's play for the men's major A Championship United proved that they will be a team not to be taken lightly when they beat the fancied Aces team by 7-6 with a batting innings in hand. Railways were thrashed soundly by Braves 29-0, the game being called off halfway through. This will be a good season for softball enthusiasts, there being two major national events staged here this summer.

The photograph was taken during the United-Aces encounter. Aces Rex Hollenback swings at a ball while United catcher Kevin Taylor crouches behind. Umpire was Charlie Phillips.

"Down by the Old Mill Stream" proved to be a very humorous item when Mesdames P.Pikimau and R.Paerou sang in costume.

Highlight of the evening was the cutting of the lovely cake by Mesdames F.Takarangi and D.Metekingi.

It was amazing to see just what the ladies could clothe themselves in with only three sheets of newspaper as material. Pictured here are some of the models with their "dressmakers".

This is what you call newspaper coverage

A combination poi was presented by Mesdames W. Waitere, A.Waitai (in front) L.Taepa, and W. Taiaroa.

Kindy's First Birthday

After 12 months of highly successful work, the Putiki Kindergarten recently celebrated its first birthday. Members of other city kindergarten Mothers' Clubs were invited to the first anniversary celebrations staged by members of the Putiki Mothers Group. A very entertaining programme was presented and the visitors were invited to participate in community singing and competitions.

Below: READERS PIX: From Point Cook, Victoria, Australia, we get this photograph from David Carthy. The pix was taken at a cabaret at the No.1 Basic Flying Training School Club on the occasion of the passing out of No. 41 pilots course. David is on No. 42 course and is due to pass out on December 15. After passing out he goes to No.1 Applied Flying Training School at R.A.A.F. Base Pearce, W.A. (about 27 miles from Perth). There he will fly Vampires for 5 months. After a short course at No 2 Operational Conversion Unit he will fly Sabre jets. (He writes that he will be through the sound barrier before he's 21). David left his home in Wanganui East in September 1960. The girl with him is Rhonda Keay. She lived in Wanganui about 10 years ago when her father was the vicar at All Saints Church in Moana Street. David attended the Wanganui East Primary School with her.

Beauty School

The girls are ganging up, and learn how to make up a face that would melt any man's heart. Once they get their face beautifully made up, then comes the nips on poor old dad to buy either a new hairdo or a new wardrobe of clothes to match the colour of the eye shadow. And the master-mind behind it all is Colleen Wansborough, proprietor of the Colleen Salon in Puriri Street.

Colleen has started extremely popular beauty schools at her salon where the "pupils" learn the best cosmetics to use and the correct way to apply them. So hobbies, if you find a beautiful stranger cooking dinner one night, have another look...it may be your wife.

Bill Brocklebank won the fifth stage from New Plymouth to Wanganui.

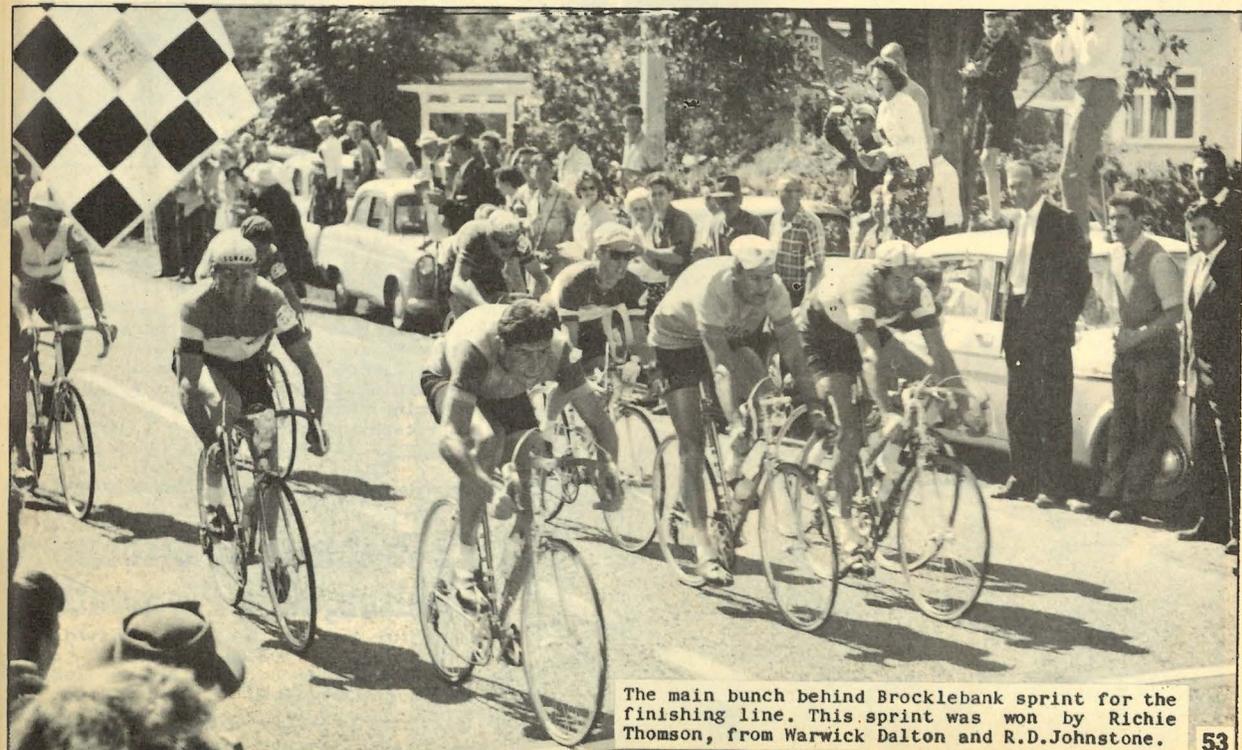

Some of the crowds who waited over an hour for the cyclists to arrive. The finishing line was shifted from Victoria Avenue up to the Great North Road owing to the possibility of the delayed riders' arrival clashing with a train due over the St. John's Hill crossing.

Marathon Cyclists In Wanganui

Crowds of people lined the Great North Road at the Friend's School, Wanganui, to witness the finish of the fifth stage of the Dulux six-day cycle race from Auckland to Wellington. It was on this stage that one of the top contenders, Tony Walsh, Auckland, crashed at Midhurst and fractured his leg. The race to the Wanganui line was won by Palmerston North's Bill Brocklebank by 85 seconds from the rest of the field. The final title was won by Warwick Dalton from Richie Thomson, R.D. Johnstone and Wanganui's Geoff Lankow in fourth place.

Bad luck dogged Wanganui's Noel Anderson. But he won the Waverley sprint.

The main bunch behind Brocklebank sprint for the finishing line. This sprint was won by Richie Thomson, from Warwick Dalton and R.D. Johnstone.

Mr Alp at work in his Castlecliff studio

Above: City Artist: A Wanganui artist, Mr Jim Alp, 7 Taupata Street, has been working unobtrusively at his Castlecliff studio for about two years turning out work which sells throughout the country. Mr Alp is not limited to one particular field of art work. His talents range from line blocks and designing to tapestry designing, poster and ticket work, and hand-painting New Zealand souvenirs. Mr Alp was recently commissioned by the Australian tapestry manufacturers, Semco, to design six tapestries with New Zealand motifs. Mr Alp's artistic career began when he was a P.O.W for three years during World War II.

Disc Jockey at Church Dance

The organisers of the recent dance in the Amateur Dramatic Hall, Guyton Street, in aid of the St. Andrew's Church hall fund, were really on the ball in getting the Wellington disc jockey, Des Britten, here to be Master of Ceremonies. The hall was packed with young people who came to see the radio idol. (For the benefit of those who haven't heard him, Des runs the Coco-Cola Hi-Fi Club and is distinguished by his racy patter... "Hi there you there... just the latest with the greatest... bye bye for now now" etc.)

Ken Bennett's band supplied the music. John O'Brien, drums, Syd Krs, guitar, John Pudsey, bass, and Ken Bennett, piano.

Senior winner, John Lockett, Wanganui High School, received a voucher for a return trip by NAC for two to anywhere in N.Z. plus a travel bag.

Runner-up Peter Leslie, Intermediate, received a smart new-type travel case from Mr Fawcett.

Junior winner, Gaylene Russell, Aramoho School, intends to take her father to Christchurch and back with her prize.

NAC Poster Winners

More than 100 entries were received in the National Airways Corporation poster contest for Wanganui and district school children. An elimination was held here and the finalist posters were sent to Wellington for final judging. Mr Ian Fawcett, Wanganui branch NAC manager, made presentations to the senior and junior winners and also made awards to two runners-up whose entries were also very good.

Senior runner-up, High School's Robert Gilbertson, also received one of the new NAC travel bags
